GASOLINE TRAIL

M 2530

Our story opens with Tom & Jerry, the clever animated manikins in the process of manufacture. The artist completes Jerry and he is made to move likelike, Tom is then completed and joins Jerry.

Later Tom is awakened from his slumbers by Jerry, his faithful companion and the two set out for a trip in the country. They come upon an abandoned fliver and Tom decides to take it. They set out on a joy ride, but, the gasoline keeps leaking out of the tank leaving a trail behind. An old farmer lights his pipe and throws away the match which falls on the gasoline moistened ground. The flame spreads and follows up the trail until it catches up with the fliver and explodes the gasoline tank, ^{on the car} throwing Tom & Jerry into the air. Tom decides flivvers were not made for him and he and Jerry pick themselves up and head for home.
